We are looking to recruit dynamic, music industry/business experienced lecturers to deliver a range of units on the level 4 Creative Practitioners Extended Diploma Course programme based at the Kensington site.

You need to be able to work with students to create a flexible and industry responsive programme drawing on your experienced professional advice, mentoring and vision to develop the entrepreneurial skills required to meet the challenges of the global entertainment industry.

You will be teaching a range of adult learners, marking and assessing work, providing feedback and inspiring learners to develop the knowledge, skills and understanding to progress in the music industry of the future.

The successful candidate is required to work effectively within a specific timeframe so we are looking for an individual with very good organisational and strong communication skills, experience of effective assessing and a sound knowledge of quality assurance processes.

Would suit individuals currently working in digital sales and marketing/distribution or music management and if you are interested in using your enthusiasm and your ability to relate to people, to deliver quality inspiring education to our students we would like to hear from you.

Note: Successful candidates will be required to apply for an enhanced DBS Disclosure and comply with all employment checks before starting work.

Closing date for receipt of completed applications is Sunday 9 June 2019.
