Coombe Boys' School

TEACHER OF GEOGRAPHY (Maternity Cover in first instance)

MPS/UPS (Outer London)

Start Date: January 2020

We are seeking an inspirational and enthusiastic teacher to teach Geography within our Humanities Department from January 2020 to cover a maternity leave in the first instance. They will be required to teach across the age and ability range up to GCSE. We wish to appoint a dynamic teacher with excellent curriculum knowledge, someone who consistently models excellent practice and has students' progress at the forefront of their teaching.

Coombe Boys' is a popular and highly successful non-selective 11-18 school that is federated with its partner girls' school to comprise the Coombe Academy Trust, based in New Malden, Surrey. Coombe Boys' has approximately 900 students on roll, including a mixed sixth form.

Results at GCSE and in the Sixth Form are significantly above national averages and the School was graded Good with Outstanding Leadership & Management in its most recent Ofsted inspection (March 2018).

The school is proud to be innovative and forward-thinking as well as being an active member of the Independent State School Partnership with King's College School, Wimbledon.
