Sir William Perkins's School

Science Technician

Competitive salary

Fixed Term, Maternity Cover

Full time during term time (35 hours a week) plus five days worked over the holidays

Start date: September 2025

At Sir William Perkins's School, we are committed to developing a love for learning and scientific inquiry in our students. Our science facilities are the heart of our school, where curiosity is sparked, and knowledge is deepened. We are seeking a highly motivated Science Technician with a strong background in Biology to cover a maternity leave and support our science department and help bring science to life for our students.

The role will include:

- Laboratory Preparation: Preparing and setting up equipment and materials for science lessons, ensuring all experiments run smoothly and safely
- Supporting Lessons: Assisting teachers during practical lessons, providing technical support and guidance to students
- Equipment Maintenance: Maintaining and organising laboratory equipment, ensuring all items are in good working condition and properly stored
- Safety Management: Implementing and upholding Health and Safety standards in the laboratory, conducting regular safety checks and risk assessments
- Resource Management: Managing inventory of materials, and equipment, ordering supplies as needed to ensure the labs are well-stocked

If you are excited about inspiring the next generation of scientists and making a meaningful impact in education, we would love to hear from you!

Closing date for applications is: Sunday 18 May at 11:59pm

Interviews will be held: TBC

Early applications are encouraged as the School reserves the right to interview and appoint before the closing date.
