Chelmsford College

The thriving team of Science, part of a busy department offering health, care, science and sport, are seeking to appoint an enthusiastic and dynamic part time Science lecturer to teach primarily on our Level 3 Forensic and Biomedical programmes, with the opportunity to teach related subjects throughout the department. The successful candidate will be joining the team at a time when involvement in the support and design of the new curricula for 16-18 and adult learning programmes will play a part in the role. The working week for this role is 18.5 hours.

The ideal candidate will need to have experience in teaching and assessing Level 3 BTEC Science with specific experience in teaching and assessing forensic and/or biomedical science related modules. Experience of working in a relevant industry, teaching A level or T level as well as curriculum design and delivery would be advantageous. You should also have a science degree and a level 5 teaching qualification. You should have an excellent record of teaching and learning practice and demonstrate the ability to prepare, plan and deliver high quality lessons in an engaging and exciting way to support learners.

The college is committed to equality and diversity and to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people. We expect all staff to share these commitments

Starting salary will be dependent on qualifications, skills and experience.

Applications will be considered upon receipt.
